Do you know...?

Do you know that repairing and refilling divots on the tee is as equally important as repairing and refilling divots elsewhere on the golf course?

The tee box is where each hole begins and this area experiences a significant amount of foot traffic and club impact. Divots on the tee can affect the stability of the golfer's stance and potentially impact their shot.

It is a common practice and courtesy in golf to refill your own divots, therefore the buggies at Aphrodite Hills PGA National Cyprus are all equipped with special sand containers to ensure that the tees and golf course are always in good condition for our fellow golfers.

Here are some steps on how to repair a divot correctly:

1. Identify the divot by locating the area on the tee where the divot occurred.
2. Collect the displaced turf and place it aside for later use or place it back.
3. Fill the divot with a sprinkle of sand until it is slightly overfilled.
4. Level the divot by using the sole of your shoe or clubhead to gently level the filled divot and press down to ensure it is firmly packed.

Remember, practicing good etiquette by repairing divots demonstrates respect for the golf course and enhances the experience for other players.
