Pro Tip

Focus on your grip, as this is crucial for control and consistency in your golf swing.

Ensure that your grip is neither too tight nor too loose, with your left hand placed on the club's handle and a 'V' formed by your thumb and forefinger pointing towards your right shoulder.

Your right hand should complement this grip, creating a secure but not restrictive hold.

How to correctly repair a pitch mark!

Pitch repair, often referred to as pitch mark repair or a ball marker repair, is an essential part of good golf etiquette.

When your golf ball lands on the green and creates a depression or mark in the putting surface, it is important to repair it promptly to maintain the integrity of the green and ensure a smoother putting surface for others

To correctly repair a pitch mark:

1. Take a divot repair tool or a tee.
2. Insert the tool or tee at the edge of the depression.
3. Gently lift the affected turf back into place, pushing it toward the centre of the mark.
4. Press down on the repaired area with your putter or foot to make it level with the rest of the green.

Proper pitch repair helps keep the greens in good condition for everyone to enjoy and is a sign of respect for the course and fellow golfers.
